

Foot up!

There should always be a whole group of pedicure tools for your salon, pedicure table. The products should be clean and well-maintained to make working easy.

The salon should have several groups of tools available, so that when you are not using pedicure, there are fresh tools to be used. Common items include: nail brush, nail clipper.

Tools are available and technicians are always use a high percentage disinfectant to clean up your tools. You should have a fresh group of tools for each client you are pedicure and this makes sure they are not into a pedicure when you return home to prepare them for the next day.

SOAK FIRST

"It is recommended that all foot treatments, even just a file and polish, start with a soothing foot soak," advises Julie Clarke, CHRP® education ambassador.

Expert comment

Make it clear, pedicure is not the same as a spa. There are three steps to proper hygiene practice.

After the pedicure, there is a final wash of feet to make sure the hands of the pedicure table are clean.

- 1. Cleaning of pedicure table
- 2. The pedicure table will be cleaned by the pedicure table operator to make sure that the pedicure table is clean.
- 3. Pedicure table will be cleaned with a disinfectant solution of 100% and then drying to dry. The disinfectant and water will be changed after each pedicure and the table will be cleaned after each pedicure. There is a disinfectant solution of 100% and then drying to dry. The disinfectant and water will be changed after each pedicure and the table will be cleaned after each pedicure.

Be alert to the fact that you should clean the pedicure table to make the table to dry up pedicure table. There is a disinfectant solution of 100% and then drying to dry. The disinfectant and water will be changed after each pedicure and the table will be cleaned after each pedicure.
